The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Death of Mrs. M. E. Burkett.

Mrs. Maggie E. Burkett, wife of Mr. L. E. Burkett, died at the home of her husband here Friday, October 29. She was 65 years of age.

Before marriage she was Miss Maggie Cantley, youngest daughter of the late W. G. Cantley. Besides her husband, the deceased leaves two sons, three daughters, twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

She was a sufferer for thirteen months but bore up bravely without a murmur, always resigned to God's will. She was a devoted wife and mother, was kind to all with whom she came in contact, and was ever ready to render service to the sick and distressed.

The Diamond From the Sky

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

A bitter feud has existed between Colonel Arthur Stanley and his cousin, Judge Lamar Stanley. The feud has been engendered in family jealousy over an heirloom, the diamond from the sky, that was found in a fallen meteor by an adventurer ancestor. Also, the succession to the Stanley earldom in England may come to an American Stanley. When a daughter is born to Colonel Stanley of the eldest branch of the Stanleys in America and the mother of the child dies at its birth, the chagrined colonel buys a newborn gypsy boy and substitutes him as heir. Three years later the gypsy mother, having had no part in this bargain, steals the colonel's little daughter, being reared in secret, and leaves her own son undetected as the heir. The gypsy mother has also obtained possession of the diamond from the sky and a document containing the secret of the false heir. She rears the little girl, Esther Stanley, as her own and grows to love her. When Esther is grown a beautiful young girl, Hagar, now gypsy queen, returns to Virginia with her. She has a wild plan that Dr. Lee, the late Colonel Stanley's old friend, may now adopt Esther, as originally intended. Her hope also is that her son, the supposed Arthur Stanley 2d, may fall in love with Esther and thus the innocent girl may become by marriage what she is by birth—mistress of Stanley hall. Dr. Lee adopts Esther, but also demands that Hagar turn over to his custody the diamond from the sky. Dr. Lee also informs Hagar that her son, the supposed Arthur Stanley 2d, is a profligate and not worthy of Esther, but Hagar hopes for the best and with her people departs. Arthur Stanley does fall in love with Esther and so does his boon companion, Blair Stanley, the cousin who would be the rightful male heir of Stanley were the Stanley secret known. In stealing the diamond Blair causes the death of the doctor. Outside is Arthur, serenading Esther. Blair, escaping, insultingly informs to Arthur that he has left Esther's room. Arthur forces him to fight a duel in which Arthur is victor and tumbles Blair into an open grave. He searches Blair and takes the diamond from the sky. Blair is only stunned and tries, with the aid of his mother, to place the blame for the murder of Dr. Lee upon Arthur. The sheriff attempts to take Arthur, but after a thrilling drive in a high powered motor car Arthur eludes his pursuers and is thrown into the river after a smashup. His body is seen floating down the river.

CHAPTER VII.

The Prodigal's Progress.

LIKE Rachel of old, Hagar, the gypsy, "mourned for her children and would not be comforted." The years had brought nought but a harvest of heartaches for Hagar.

The son she had borne had been torn from her ere scarce she had felt his little head against her heart, and as for the child she had taken from the house of those she deemed her enemies, the girl Esther, the child she had taken in retribution for the great wrong done her, the child she had nurtured in hate and had grown to love with every fiber of her being, sweet Esther, the rightful Stanley, of her, too, Hagar was now bereft.

Here, while her sad heart still mourned for both her children, yet longed the most for sweet Esther, came the homing pigeon to the rocks where it had been reared, and here Hagar saw it flying laden with its message and read the call for her that Esther sent.

It did not take her long to mount and ride away.

Within a few hours she was at Dr. Lee's cottage to find Esther already cast out by the cold, proud widow of Judge Stanley, Blair Stanley's mother, and next of kin to Dr. Lee. For the doctor had delayed, in his easy going way, just one day too long to adopt Esther legally, to tell her who she was and to see she regained the heritage of Stanley hall and what was left of the estate the supposed heir was wildly squandering.

So it was Hagar arrived just in time to spare the shrinking Esther from further humiliation. And as they rode home in the dusk and crossed the ford at the river near the gypsy camp, the
